

Neo-Soul Band MATOYA Releases new single- 'Street light'

//MATOYA proudly presents their newest single 'Streetlight' - the perfect soundtrack to spring flings and summer love//

While MATOYA's live sets tend to hinge on the band's more danceable numbers, the more dynamic "Street light" proved to add a certain depth to any performance. For this reason, the band is excited to release it as its new single - confirming their preferred archetype as the love-laden groove machines.

Streetlight was written in the early AM when the only source of light to work by was from a street light shining into the MATOYA studio. MATOYA's frontwoman Sofiya Astapiuk found inspiration in comparing the ever-present light to the constancy one feels when in love - that the warmth and love adds clarity to everything in its path and proves its necessity. Anyone in love knows that its value is self-evident, but MATOYA is gonna sing about it anyways.

The band hopes you enjoy 'Street light' and that you share that enjoyment with everyone you love. And if you do enjoy it, get excited! There's a lot more where that came from.
